Tornadoes Slam 2 Texas Towns, 80 Left Homeless

KENEDY, Tex. (AP)—Tornadoes smashed into two small south Texas towns early today, leaving 80 homeless and causing heavy property damage, as new torrential downpours hit the water-soaked state. Three persons were injured when one twister demolished virtually all homes on the east side of Kennedy, population 4,235, at about 12:45 a.m. Another tornado hit Runge, population 1,053, 11 miles northeast of Kennedy, about the same time. Seven inches of rain were dumped on the Corpus Christi area when violent thunderstorms raked the southern part of the state early today.

Honor Senator

PEKIN, Ill. (AP)—The folks back home in Pekin, Ill., began a three-day celebration Sunday marking 40 years of public life for Illinois Republican Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, but the man being honored was in Washington.

Dirksen, 70, sent word he was too busy with his chores as Senate minority leader but he did say he would be on hand for the windup Tuesday. Dirksen's first elective public post was that of Pekin city councilman in 1926.

Oklahoma Air Crash Probe Continues

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP)—Investigators continued to comb a muddy hillside area today for clues to a plane crash that claimed 82 lives.

An American Flyers charter plane carrying 98 persons plunged to earth here Friday night, killing the six civilian crewmen and 74 of the 92 young Army recruits on board. Two other soldiers died later in hospitals.

Investigators hope the 16 remaining survivors will provide information on the crash of the plane, piloted by a man who had logged 5,000 hours in the air.

The plane, investigators said, had failed to make a landing on the airport's east-west runway and was circling for a landing on a runway running northwest-southeast when the crash occurred.

The plane was banking into a left turn when it struck the ground, bursting into flames.

Electricians Post Pickets At Space Site

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Striking electrical workers, charging bad faith on the part of United Technology Center negotiators, posted pickets today at all five gates leading into the Kennedy Space Center.

It was not known immediately what effect the pickets would have. When the electrical workers picketed all five gates last Monday and Tuesday, only 400 construction men honored the lines while more than 12,000 other union workers passed through the lines.

Later the union reduced its picketing to a single gate.

Involved in the strike are about 275 members of the California-based Local 1201 of the International Union of Electrical Workers, with 52 of them at Cape Kennedy. The rest work at United Technology facilities at Sunnyvale, Coyote and Redwood City, Calif.

A main issue in the strike, which began last week against United Technology, a division of United Aircraft Corp., is wages. Electricians in California claim they are paid less than the $3.93 an hour paid elsewhere in the space industry.

Union representatives have said they are asking for an hourly increase of 16 cents plus a 30-cent differential for working at Cape Kennedy. The company reportedly offered 19 cents and no differential.

9 Children Killed

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—A baker's truck plowed into a school road safety class in the village of Waffergem-Asse today, killing at least nine children, the Belgian radio reported.

The accident occurred near the center of the tree-lined village. The street was strewn with children's bodies. About 20 were in the group hit by the truck.

Communist Planes Avoid U.S. Jets After Challenge Failure

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Communist warplanes stayed well out of the way of American jet aircraft Sunday after their first challenge in 10 months to the U.S. raiders had failed. The defense of North Vietnamese targets was left to Communist ground-gunners who knocked down two U.S. Air Force planes with intense surface-to-air missile and antiaircraft fire, a U.S. spokesman said. Two other

Agreement OK'd for Clear Lakes Bridge

In less than one-half hour Monday morning representatives from Twin Falls County, Gooding County, Westpoint Highway District and the Buhl Highway District agreed on a proposed agreement to build a $155,000 bridge at Clear Lakes near Buhl. Blaine Sessions, state highway district engineer, Shoshone, said the original agreement to build the bridge had an estimated cost of $500,000 but was subsequently cut to the present figure.

He said there is a chance the bridge may cost more than the present figure, but if this happens a new agreement can be drawn up or apply the cost of the approaches to the cost of the bridge and let the two highway districts pay the approach costs on an individual basis.

Robert Galley, the attorney who drew up the agreement, said loopholes were left in the agreement for this purpose. Galley said should the total cost of the bridge and its approaches cost in excess of $155,000, upon completion of the preliminary engineering phase of the project, the present agreement will become void and a new agreement will be drawn up before proceeding with the project.

Sessions said the new bridge will be built within 100 feet of the present bridge. According to Sessions it is now important to begin survey, compute what is needed as far as land, and draw up the plans. Sessions said if the purchase of property is necessary they can do this at the time of construction, and if the land is not for sale they can begin condemnation procedures under the right-of-way law.

Morris Carlson, Twin Falls County Commission chairman, said Twin Falls is to be assessed one-half mill for the bridge project. He said this is to insure the project, even if Twin Falls County does not necessarily need to spend the entire assessment.

The agreement drawn up by Galley calls for $59,000 from local funds and $96,000 from federal-aid secondary funds to complete the bridge. See BRIDGE, Page 2, Column 7

WASHINGTON (AP)—The row over a Defense Department decision to cut the number of long-range bombers has triggered a congressional move to cut Congress in on such decisions.

A House Armed Services subcommittee report recommends amending the National Security Act to require the executive branch to have the "advice" of Congress before eliminating any major weapons system.

The report, released Sunday night, was highly critical of the decision announced last December by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

It complained, too, of difficulty in getting information from the Defense Department and implied that McNamara's attitude toward Congress could be better.

The report also hit at the "decision-making" process on eliminating major weapons systems and questioned whether McNamara ignores advice and makes decisions on his own.

The report was released by Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., subcommittee chairman, after a series of hearings. He and Rep. William G. Bray of Indiana, ranking Republican, noted in a joint statement that highly classified material had been studied.

BOISE (AP)—William Butler, 22, of Bayonne, N.J., was arraigned in Third District Court today on a charge of first-degree murder.

Judge Merlin S. Young granted a one-week postponement for the entering of a plea.

Butler is accused of strangling Barbara Jean Dixon, 20, Boise College co-ed, from Evanston, Ill., whose partially clothed body was found last January alongside a desert road east of Boise.

Smylie Asks for Federal Sharing Of Tax Billions

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Republican Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho accused President Johnson's Budget Bureau today of playing a shell game with taxpayers' dollars. In a keynote speech prepared for delivery to the Western Governor's Conference, Smylie, a candidate for a fourth term, renewed a call for the federal government to share its tax billions with the states. Smylie's criticism of the administration came as governors from 14 western states and territories assembled for an election year meeting on regional problems.

The host, Democratic Gov. Grant M. Sawyer of Nevada, said traditional western issues of water and land will occupy his colleagues.

At a news conference, he said the federal government must surrender some of the land it holds in the West.

"In California, they are running out of space," he told a reporter. "In Nevada, the cities and counties are marooned in a sea of federal land."

Smylie's critique of federal tax policy was delivered to an audience of eight Democratic governors and six Republicans, along with their aides and guests.

"Billions of dollars are deducted from payrolls of our citizens and sent to Washington," he said. "What happens to that money in terms of direct benefits in terms of our communities and states?"

"Given the shell game played by the federal Budget Bureau, it is unlikely that we shall ever know the answer to that question at any point of time."

The solution, he said, is federal sharing of tax dollars with the states — an idea long advocated by former White House economic adviser Walter Heller and advocated by the National Governors' Conference last year.

He said federal tax revenues are increasing, while the states' are declining.

Existing state facilities, he said, could be used to allocate the money "to the great variety of governmental functions that have customarily belonged to the state."

"We could demonstrate to all who doubt that our state governments are vital, creative in situations."

Smylie said that reapportionment of state legislatures is "removing one hurdle to the development of more responsible state government."

Governors, he said, will get more support from legislatures for solving urban problems.

But it won't help the state, he said, if they must face the new city problems with "empty treasuries."

He said the question faced by See SMYLIE, Page 2, Column 6

Artificial Heart Patient Is Improving

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Marcel DeRudder's surgeons reported some improvement today in a kidney malfunction that has caused new concern for the patient with a partial artificial heart.

"Although the patient has not regained consciousness there are further signs of improvement in the central nervous system with additional return of certain reflexes," the day's first medical bulletin said.

"There is also some improvement of the decreased kidney function reported yesterday."

Methodist Hospital's final bulletin Sunday had reported "some decrease of kidney function" but said laboratory tests indicated the condition was "potentially reversible."

Neither bulletin elaborated on the condition.

The first advisory today also said DeRudder, 65, of Westville, Ill., continues to show general improvement, "particularly in the status of his heart function and circulation."

Peace Prerequisites Listed by Humphrey

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said today peace in Asia depends on victory against "poverty, disease and despair" as well as against "the classic power tactics of communism" in Viet Nam. "We must not lose the peace in either struggle," the vice president said in a speech prepared for the annual meeting of The Associated Press. "That is why we have committed once more—as we have had to do before—men, money, and resources to help the nations of Asia help themselves toward security and independence, Humphrey added.

Cautioning that "it won't be easy, it will be frustrating and at times heartbreaking," Humphrey said:

"We must stay and see it through. And the free nations of the world need to know that we have the vision and the endurance to do so."

"Those who threaten their neighbors in Asia should know it too. They should know that we will resist their aggression."

Humphrey, who returned two months ago from a nine-nation Asian tour, added, "They should also know that we bear no consumptive hate against their people, that we have no design on their sovereignty."

"We only look toward the day when all nations may choose to live in harmony with their neighbors—when they may turn together their energies to building a better life for their peoples," he said.

"For this is after all our second great task before us: the desperate need to narrow the widening gap between the rich and poor nations of the world."

Humphrey said that it is not possible to preserve lasting peace if glaring economic and social inequality among the peoples of the world exist.

Tying the hopes for peace to helping "the disinherited and left-out of this world," the vice president said:

"Today there are families spending their last day on earth because they haven't the strength or health to keep going."

"But those who remain—and you can be sure of this—those who remain will take to the streets...they will turn to any master...they will tear the fabric of peace to shreds, unless they have some reason to believe there is hope for life and hope for justice."

Mrs. Gandhi Intervenes In Hot Debate

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Indira Gandhi intervened in an angry debate in Parliament today over three recent bombings of passenger trains in Assam and promised "sternest measures" against any who are found guilty of the "dastardly acts."

The bombings of three trains in the past two months in remote areas of eastern Assam have killed 133 persons.

The government announced it will inspect all the luggage of passengers traveling in "vulnerable areas" of the Northeast Frontier Railways Lines.

The bombings, the most recent of which killed 40 passengers Saturday night, resulted in 13 separate motions for adjournment in Parliament. An adjournment motion is a form of censuring the government.

A vote defeated the motions but the angry feelings apparently prompted Mrs. Gandhi to come to the floor and speak in behalf of the government.

U. S. Protests Report Refusal

MOSCOW (AP)—The United States angrily protested today a Soviet refusal to provide complete information on the death of American tourist Newcomb Mott and suggested this left a suspicion that he was "not a suicide."

Mott died Jan. 20 on a Soviet prison train. He was serving an 18-month sentence for illegally entering the Soviet Union. The Russians said he cut his throat with a razor blade.

49,000 Coal Miners Are Back to Work

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some of the 49,000 striking coal miners were returning to work today after a tentative agreement was reached to end the two-week-old walkout — the largest soft coal strike in 15 years.

But many of the miners indicated they would remain off the job until the agreement was approved formally by the United Mine Workers and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association.

The UMW Policy Committee meets in Washington Wednesday to consider the agreement. It was reached Sunday between UMW President W. A. (Tony) Boyle and Edward Fox, president of the operators association.

A spokesman for the Pennsylvania Coal Producers Association said the agreement provides for wage hikes to all workers, increases in vacation pay, eight paid holidays and an increase in shift differentials.

He said the new agreement contains "substantial differences" from the contract signed by the UMW on April 8 with three independent coal firms.

Ralph Olmstead installed the officers for the 1966-67 school year. They are Mrs. Marvin Fouts, president; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moore, co-vic presidents; Mrs. Elaine Meyers, treasurer, and Mrs. Howard Arington, secretary.

SYNOPSIS AND AGRICULTURAL SUMMARY

A trend towards cloudy skies is expected today in the agricultural valleys as a cold front moves across Southern Idaho. A weak cold front has developed at the surface ahead of the colder air aloft moving out of the Gulf of Alaska. Skies vary from partly cloudy to cloudy this morning at reporting points in Southern Idaho.

The chance for showers will be limited to mountain areas to the north tonight. Available moisture is located in the north of the valleys, and present indications are that this moisture will not move into this area. Partly cloudy skies are forecast for Tuesday as the cold front moves eastward out of our valleys with fair weather indicated for Wednesday as higher pressure returns.

Probably the greatest effect of this storm on our weather will be from 5 to 10 degrees of cooling in daytime temperatures tomorrow. Maximum temperatures today will be near to a few degrees warmer than yesterday's reading but will lower into the upper 50s and 60s on Tuesday. Minimum temperatures tonight will again be mostly in the 30s with a few readings in the low to mid 40s.

Warming was shown in both day and nighttime temperatures during the past 24 hours across the valleys of Southern Idaho. Ontario recorded the highest temperature of 80 degrees yesterday with Fairfield recording the lowest temperature of 31 degrees during the night. Daytime temperatures were from 2 to 15 degrees warmer while nighttime temperatures ranged from 2 to as much as 22 degrees warmer.

FIVE-DAY FORECAST

Higher pressure aloft will persist along the West Coast with low pressure extending from the southwestern states into the Great Lakes region.

Temperatures over the valleys of Southern Idaho will average near normal from Tuesday through Saturday. Cooling is indicated on Tuesday with some warming on Wednesday and then further warming again Friday and Saturday. Some normal maximum and minimum temperatures for this period are Gooding, 67 to 39; Twin Falls, 67 to 37, and Burley, 66 to 37.

The persisting northwesterly flow of air aloft will continue quite dry and below normal amounts of precipitation are forecast in the valleys of Southern Idaho through Saturday. Scattered showers are possible in mountain areas tonight and a chance for showers are again possible around Thursday. But precipitation totals in valley areas will be mostly less than .10 of an inch.

Sunshine will average around 70 per cent or more of possible during the next five days. Days with lightest winds appear to be Wednesday and again Friday and Saturday. Soil temperatures will show some gains after the cooling of last week with readings in the 50s and 60s at the three-to-four-inch depth by the end of this week.

Use of irrigation water will be in demand through the week as precipitation, if any, will be too light to be of much use. Other outside activities and field work will have mostly favorable weather to make good progress.

plete the project. Gooding County will provide 13.56 per cent of the matching funds or about $8,000; Westpoint Highway District will contribute a two and one-half mill levy or about $4,500. Twin Falls County is to provide $24,250 or 41.10 per cent of the funds, and the Buhl Highway District will provide $22,500 or 37.71 per cent of the matching funds.

According to the agreement, Twin Falls and Gooding Counties have no responsibility in the construction or maintenance of the bridge, but to assist in financing the project. Galley said the two counties will retain their own funds and pay the bills as they come due rather than place tax money in a pool.

According to the agreement, the two highway districts will acquire all right-of-way permits and easements within their respective districts. They will jointly work on securing an engineering firm to perform the survey, design, investigation and preparation of plans for the bridge, as well as other phases necessary to construction of the bridge.

The agreement was signed by the Twin Falls County Commission, the Gooding County Commission, the Westpoint Highway District Commission, Buhl Highway District Commission and witnesses by clerks and secretaries from each of the four units.

The agreement is now in force and will be until completion of all conditions in the agreement, according to Galley. According to the agreement no money will be paid for services rendered until Jan. 1, 1967.

According to Galley there is no salvage value in the old bridge and the contract for the construction of the new structure will provide that the old bridge is to be disposed of by the contractor upon completion of the new bridge.

Only one governor was missing — Edmund G. Brown, of California, who was east testifying before congressional committees.

There was plenty of behind-the-scenes political talk. All but three of the governors — Tim Babcock of Montana, Daniel Evans of Washington and Calvin R. Rampton of Utah — are running for office this year either for re-election or for U.S. senator.

Associated Press Notes Big War Coverage Costs

NEW YORK (AP)—The Associated Press Board of Directors said in its annual report today that the cost of covering the war in Viet Nam has been heavy, both in casualties and financial expenses.

"During the year two Associated Press men were killed," the board said. "Four others have been wounded in Viet Nam. Due to escalation of the war, it was necessary to more than double the size of the staff there." The report, read at the annual AP meeting, said.

"The year was marked, too, by an increasing flood of news from Washington, and greatly expanded government actions in all news fields.

The quick shifts in news emphasis and the need for expertise in writing for an increasingly sophisticated public, call for new methods of handling news. The Associated Press now has special task forces available for major news developments."

The AP meeting, in addition to hearing the report, voted to fill seven vacancies on the 18-member board of directors and acted on the applications of 29 associate newspaper members to become regular members of the AP, whose news report reaches 900 million people around the world.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was the guest speaker at the AP luncheon after the business meeting.

Paul Miller, president of The Associated Press and president of Gannett newspapers, presided at the meeting and luncheon.

Wes Gallagher, general manager of The Associated Press, reported to the news executives on the activities of the cooperative news gathering association during the past year.

Other highlights of the meeting were personal reports in depth from Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic.

Thet directors, commenting on the new task forces, added:

"One is a staff of experienced space and science writers assigned to the major space flights—there are more of these every year.

"A second task force, formed this past year, consists of specialists in covering racial developments. These staff men, normally working in various bureaus around the country, converge on any area where their experience will be helpful.

"A third mobile emergency force is ready for assignment to enterprise projects connected with the spot news report."

"One of the year's major developments was the complete reorganization of the Wirephoto network to remove state barriers and to permit movement of the best quality pictures across state lines on a regional basis.

"In the first major change in Wirephoto routing since the network was established more than 30 years ago, there are now regional control bureaus in eight cities outside of New York—Chicago, Atlanta, Dallas, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Boston, Philadelphia, and Washington."

The directors said the progress of AP operations generally has been reflected by the greatest gains in newspaper membership since World War II. Twenty-eight daily newspapers in the United States came into Associated Press membership in 1965, and 19 more have applied for membership so far in 1966. There currently are 1,226 daily newspaper members in the United States.

Broadcast membership, the board said, is now at 2,828 and there are 4,515 subscribers to Associated Press service abroad in 103 countries and territories. The report added:

"The gains in the United States were more than matched in Latin America, which was the area of greatest growth in the world services in 1965."

"And since the first of the year has come another important development — establishment of a local state-wide service in Puerto Rico. There are both English and Spanish-language circuits serving 28 newspapers and broadcast stations throughout Puerto Rico, with the AP staff based in San Juan."

The report noted that the war in Viet Nam dominated the news of 1965 for the second straight year.

"The situation with respect to restrictions on coverage of the war in Viet Nam, which was deplored in our report a year ago, has eased," the board said. "As of today, correspondents and photographers find fewer difficulties placed in their way than earlier in the war."

"In Indonesia, American news agency offices were closed in January, and correspondents expelled," the report said. "In late March they were permitted to return and we are now re-established there with Jeff Williams being sent from Tokyo to be correspondent at Jakarta."

The board said the fixed assets purchased in 1965 amounted to $1,547,560.34, all paid from funds of the corporation.

These technical advances were listed by the board:

"Automatic Wirephoto has proved to be an outstanding success. One of the first machines was displayed at our meeting here just a year ago. Since then more than 150 members in the United States, Canada and Europe have signed for this automatic delivery of glossy photographic prints, and practically all of the installations have been made."

"A spectacular new use of computers to provide baseball box scores has been instituted. The elaborate Associated Press play-by-play baseball services, reaching into every major league park in the United States, are coded and fed into AP computers, providing complete side-by-side box scores in tape within a minute or so after the end of the game. This gain of around 30 minutes on the average enables editors to make editions which they never could make before.

"Production will start soon of AP Offsetter, a machine to be connected directly to AP Teletypesetter circuits and printers in justified lines on printers copy for offset reproduction.

"Programming is well along and within the next year The Associated Press will have in operation a new IBM 360 computer system. It will handle the tabulation and typesetting of stock market and other tables, and the many other computer functions AP now requires, faster and more easily than the present system.

"A technical center, staffed by AP engineering and maintenance specialists, was created in St. Louis to work with AP technicians in the field and with newspaper production executives.

"Communications to and from Saigon were improved with the establishment of a 24-hour leased circuit connecting the foreign news desk in New York with the AP bureau in Saigon.

"Transmission of the new report to Pacific and Southwest Asian subscribers was moved from San Francisco to Manila, greatly enhancing the reliability of the radioteletype signals.

"Dataseed service was started to the Honolulu Star-Bulletin by cable under the Pacific.

"A new communications department was established by The Associated Press. It serves as a planning instrument to apply new communications developments to the AP's worldwide system. It also is championing the modernization of communications rate structures and the liberalization of Federal Communications Commission regulatory measures which have impeded news media from applying technical advances to their maximum usefulness."

No Majority

Speaking in North Idaho the other day, State Sen. Cecil D. Andrus, Democratic candidate for governor, declared there was a move under way in his party "to split the primary vote and put a minority candidate on the ballot." Inasmuch as Sen. Andrus avoided mentioning any names or giving any leads to the plot, the public is left pretty much up in the air. It's a rather unusual situation. Usually, when there's a plentiful selection of candidates, it's popular to charge the other party plans to invade the primary election to select a candidate who will be easy to beat.

Approaching the Democratic situation from the other side, do the Democrats have a candidate for governor who can claim majority support from within the party? With six or so avowed candidates trying to corral delegate votes in preparation for the party's nominating assembly, it would be surprising indeed if one should succeed in cornering so much as one-third of the delegates.

There could be a plot within the Democratic party like Mr. Andrus suggests. But even without some sort of plot, the Democrats have to come up with a minority candidate for governor. It remains to be seen if the Democrats can recover from the battle for the party's nomination in time to wage an effective campaign for the general election.

It's too early in the campaign to talk about pledges of support for the party's nominee, regardless of identity. But if such pledges are forthcoming later from the various elements of the party, there's indication they'll be rather hollow. Make no mistake — there's plenty of strife among Democratic leaders these days as they push and shove for the party's nomination for governor. They fully expect the next governor of Idaho will be a Democrat and scarcely any of the top Democrats is willing to take as much as one step backward, even for the sake of party unity.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie must grin to himself as he watches the struggle.

GOOD TESTS NEEDED

There appears to be growing concern over the laxity of regulations that permits persons to operate automobiles when they are physically or mentally incapable of driving safely. It's a problem that applies equally to all age groups. Although many states, including Idaho, have regulations that provide for physical examinations where indicated, it's rare, indeed, when that phase of the law is invoked.

The problem starts out with the beginning driver. All states have minimum ages for driving—and they're all different. The minimum ranges all the way from 13 for a learner's permit in North Dakota to 21 for an unrestricted license in five states, including Montana and Wyoming. In most cases, a little extra attention is focussed on the beginner when he obtains his initial license. But from that point until he becomes so doddering that he's actually incapable of driving a car, too little attention is devoted to drivers or their qualifications.

Sad, but true, too many states use the driver's license more as a means of raising revenue than in screening out drivers who shouldn't be behind steering wheels in the first place. In many states, including Idaho, it's even possible to renew a driver's license without going through normal channels if you know the right person.

Now there's a proposal from Dr. A. Carlton Ernste, Cleveland, to set an upper-age limit for drivers. Dr. Ernste, president of the American College of Physicians, says elderly drivers should be retired from the highways. "Standards are available for judging the competence of people to drive an automobile, and it is our duty . . . to apply them conscientiously and impartially," he declared.

He's right, but it would be awfully difficult to set an arbitrary age limit at which a citizen would be barred from driving a car. By the time they are 50, some drivers have deteriorated enough to warrant suspension of their license. But others are sufficiently alert and their reflexes are good enough to drive to the age of 80 or beyond. One local man who lived past 100, voluntarily surrendered his license at the age of 90.

It's a little more difficult, but this right to drive should be evaluated on an individual basis. It's not right to say that all persons are qualified to drive at the age of 16 and must stop at, say, the age of 70. Some beginners are not prepared to drive at 16, having failed to develop sufficient judgment. The nation prides itself on being well advanced scientifically, yet no one has devised proper tests to assure that all drivers are qualified. We still go on killing around 50,000 persons annually.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

BY ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON — Probably nothing will come of it because taxes are such a tender subject with so many citizens, but there is new agitation on Capitol Hill for having another go at reform of the nation's tax structure. Discussions are centered largely in the House Ways and Means Committee, whose prudent chairman, Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., has long wanted to take a scalpel to the system. "Almost everybody agrees that reforms that broadened the base of taxation would make it possible to reduce tax rates for all and yet increase tax revenue. But whenever the subject is mentioned there are howls from both rich and poor, who are suspicious of change lest they lose some of their tax-saving gimmicks. They may despise the present system, but it is at least a known evil, whereas they know not what to expect if the experts are permitted to tamper with it."

CHANGES CONSIDERED — For example, some economists feel there is no excuse for permitting the deduction of gasoline taxes, and others question the present method of computing deductions for charitable contributions. The first group points out that gasoline taxes are levied to pay for benefits received only by highway users. The second would limit the deduction for charitable contributions to two or three per cent of income in order both to encourage larger gifts to charity and to save up to $2 billion a year in revenue.

Privately, most members of Congress not owned by oil companies acknowledge that the 27½ per cent depletion allowance is a fraud on the body politic. Oilmen and other minerals tycoons are fond of comparing the depletion allowance with that given for depreciation. But the amounts written off as depreciation are limited to the cost of the asset, while depletion law gives capital a double deduction by permitting an immediate writeoff for certain capital costs and then a percentage depletion saving over the long haul.

OH, TO BE 65! — Any attempt to change the depletion system would bring the lobbyists' barrelling into the Capitol, red-faced and fuming, and so would any tampering with income tax benefits for taxpayers over 65 years old. At present, these taxpayers get an additional exemption of $600, pay no tax on their Social Security or Railroad Retirement pensions and get a tax credit on other retirement income below $1,524. Yet it would be far more sensible to eliminate these deductions and use the revenue to boost Social Security benefits for all the aged.

Because the times have changed, it also would make sense to increase the present per capita exemption of $600. That figure was set in 1948, when consumer prices were 25 per cent lower than they are today. The administration fears to raise the exemption because of the expense involved — some $3 billion a year for an increase from $600 to $700. But an alternative would be to double the present minimum standard deduction of $300 for each taxpayer and $100 for each additional exemption up to a $1,000 maximum; this would cost less than $2 billion.

Meanwhile, there are new supporters on the hill for the radical new proposal for a "negative income tax" — a gimmick that would fit snugly into the philosophy of the Great Society. Under this system, an individual would add up his income and subtract his exemptions and deductions. If the result came out in the minus column, he'd get a check from Uncle Sam for that amount. In the atmosphere of the times, this idea has a better chance than sensible might think.

All of this is just talk at the moment; it is doubtful whether any significant tax changes will be written either this year or next. Until that millennium, the disgruntled taxpayer will have to take what comfort he can from the knowledge that American taxes or not, either, the highest in the world. They average only 27 per cent here, compared with 30 to 35 per cent in Great Britain, Germany, France, Italy, The Netherlands and Sweden.

Views of Others

AFTER HIGH SCHOOL

"Something for everyone" in higher education is an old American ideal. The century-old land-grant college system, the junior college movement, and the massive scholarship offerings now available give the impression that the ideal has been realized. This is not the case, however. Many qualified youths do not find their way to college because of the cost.

New York City is now considering a new, costly master plan for expanding tuition-free education for its high-school graduates. The plan was prepared by a council of presidents of the city's colleges. It is an attempt to open doors to the 16,000 youths with college qualifications who, it is calculated, will be unable to find room in the city's existing institutions by 1972 unless something is done.

The plan appears sound from the educational standpoint. Modern business, industry, and agriculture are demanding more and more college-trained people and are offering ever fewer jobs to the less educated. The big question as always is, where is the money coming from for so ambitious a program? This calls for further study at both city and state levels.

Actually, the high cost of college is a national problem. When the land-grant college system was established a century ago, to add agricultural and mechanical studies to the liberal arts, the idea was to bring higher education "within the means" of the working people. It began that way, but by 1965 the average student cost at public universities, including living, was $1,560 a year. By 1980, according to the U.S. Office of Education, it may top $2,400. This is a long way from free higher education.

The city college which permits students to live at home does much to widen opportunity for urban boys and girls. (Although tuition in these is rising.) New York City is acting wisely in setting itself goals and studying ways to meet them now, before the need becomes even more acute. Such efforts are needed in most American cities—now. — Christian Science Monitor.

WHO'S INTOLERANT?

Seventeen-year-old Dennis Conroy has been expelled from a suburban Chicago high school for refusing to get his hair cut, and as might be expected his school board is being roundly denounced for alleged infringement of personal rights.

But hold; let us examine the reason given by young Dennis for his refusal. He told the board he needed to keep his hair long for his role as a drummer in a folk-rock band called "The Cryin' Shames." Presumably, if he trims his tresses so he can get back into classes and get his diploma this June, he will lose his job with the band.

Now, who's intolerant? If Dennis is a good drummer, his talents should be just as much appreciated by folk-rock fans whether or not he looks like an Australian sheepdog. If his fellow teenagers make an extreme hair style a requirement for a spot in a band catering to teenagers, they're just as arbitrary as Dennis' school board. — The Oregonian.

THEN THERE WAS ONE

Dear Potties: In regards to that lost Indian, the woman from Fairfield was scouting for, she might be interested to know there were three Indians in that tribe that were hard to keep up with.

There was Boozie, Uncle Sam has been chasing him for a long time but could never catch him. Then there was Falling Rock. No one has seen him since he left the tribe. But they are still looking for him. As you drive through the mountains, you will see signs, "Watch for Falling Rock."

Then there was Sun Dance, the powerful doctor. He has a teepee set up over at Freedom, Wyo., a little town of about 50 people on the Wyoming-Idaho line. You can reach it by going north from Soda Springs on the state highway for about 75 miles.

KITTENS AND BABIES

There were two kittens, a black and a gray, and Grandmother said with a frown, "It never will do to keep them both, the black one we'd better drown." "Don't cry my dear," to little Bess, "one kitten's enough to keep." "Now run up to nurse for it's getting late, and time you were fast asleep."

The morning dawned, and rosy and sweet came little Bess from her nap. Nurse said, "Go into Mama's room and look in Grandma's lap."

"Come here, my dear," called Grandma from the rocking chair where she sat. "God has sent you two little sisters; now what do you think of that?"

Bessie looked at the babies a moment, their wee heads of yellow and brown, and soberly said to Grandma, "Which one is you donna drown?"

Interpreting The News

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — This year taxes are going to hang over President Johnson like an umbrella or a club.

Taxes may go up. If they don't, then in the congressional elections Johnson can say, "We got along without them." If they do, Republicans will blame them on him.

When Congress cut taxes in 1964 and 1965, that was supposed to settle things for quite a while. But the costs of the Vietnamese war came along.

Then living costs began inching up. In February they went up one-half of 1 per cent. Thursday came the news that in March they had bumped their way up a bit again, this time four-tenths of 1 per cent.

This was just a modest increase compared with February. But it was still a continued rise. And it was in March that Johnson indicated he might WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, who probably will return to Washington from Saigon next month for consultation with President Johnson and other high officials in Vietnam, says problems developed here.

If the plans are finally approved, Lodge's return would likely mean the first top-level policy review of Viet Nam issues since Johnson met with South Vietnamese leaders and U.S. diplomatic and military chiefs in Honolulu last February.

There have been periodic rumors that Lodge was thinking about resigning, but administration officials in Washington say they are without any indication whatever that Lodge intends to resign.

Lodge became U.S. ambassador in Saigon last Aug. 20 and has not been back to Washington for eight months. He is serving his second tour as ambassador.

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M. D.

A mother writes that her 3½-year-old son talks but not understands and wants to know whether he will improve with time. By the time a child is 3½ he should be able to speak plainly unless there is a malformation of the voice box, palate, hard palate, nasal partition, jaws, lips or tongue. Faulty speech may also be due to mental retardation.

This child's doctor should be able to determine the cause of the trouble, but none of the causes mentioned will disappear with time. Many cities now have remedial speech centers. When such treatment is required the earlier it is started the better.

Q—My 14-month-old son has a primary microcephaly. What caused it? Is there any treatment?

A—Microcephaly is an abnormally small brain. Primary implies that no cause, such as infection with the parasite, Toxoplasma or X-ray of the mother's abdomen in the first three months of pregnancy, could be found. In some cases there is a premature closure of the cranial joints. If this is the cause an operation to increase the size of the cranial cavity may be helpful.

Q—My doctor is giving my daughter, 9, Enuretrol to help her stop wetting the bed. Is this drug safe and effective? How does it help?

A—This is a combination of ephedrine and atropine. Both drugs tend to relax the muscles of the bladder wall and tighten the muscle (sphincter) that controls the outlet of the bladder. These drugs have been helpful in controlling bedwetting in children when physical and emotional causes have been ruled out. They are safe in the amount usually prescribed.

Q—I have heard that there is a hypodermic syringe that doesn't use a needle. Giving insulin to a struggling screaming child every day is becoming a nightmare. If you know of such a syringe, please tell me about it.

A—There is a hypodermic or jet injector that will force a fluid through a pinpoint opening and into the skin under a pressure of 75 to 1,200 pounds per square inch. Some training in its proper use is essential because careless handling will damage the skin. It should be available through any surgical supply house.

Q—My children, age 1 and 2, have had diarrhea off and on for six months. Sometimes I find lots of tiny black specks in their stools. Could these be parasites?

A—Intestinal parasites are common. Blood in the stools that comes from high up in the digestive tract is black but would rarely appear as tiny specks. If the diarrhea persists, a stool examination and culture should be made.

TAYLOR'S VIEWS ON WORLD NEWS

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

As living costs hit another high, President Johnson locks the public into the same old, nonsensical rat race. Everybody is supposed to do something about it except the political spenders themselves.

On April 19, Mr. Johnson warned a gain that we can either adhere to a voluntary wage-price control or Washington can impose direct wage-price controls.

Well, on the pricing side, Mr. Johnson can crack down on some items as he did on the aluminum, copper and cigarette producers, but a nation's pricing system as a whole is a vastly complex affair in which competition is demonstrably the best regulator. Direct controls merely open the door to black markets. If Mr. Johnson doesn't remember the horrors of the last Office of Price Administration, somebody should remind him.

On the wage side, what's Mr. Johnson talking about, anyway, when he talks about guidelines? In the game of blindman's buff that the President plays with have to ask Congress to boost taxes as an anti-inflation move if living costs kept going up.

As a politician he knew this was sheer poison. But as a politician he knew this had an antidote.

If, after fussing about the possibility of a tax increase, there was no great increase in living costs and therefore no tax increase, he could claim credit for a great achievement by his Democratic administration.

Meanwhile, he worked at it, pressuring labor to keep down its wage demands and business to keep down prices and new construction.

He said at the time about new taxes: "We don't want to act prematurely. We don't want to put the brakes on too fast." This was a great big nudge to practically everybody about throwing money around. In case they didn't feel his elbow, he tried a few more pokes.

He said most of his advisers were talking of three alternatives: government controls, a federal spending cut of $5 billion to $10-billion or a tax increase of roughly $5 billion. This really took in everybody.

But he said no one likes controls. And he said he does not believe federal spending can be cut very much without hurting "necessary or popular programs that Congress would go along with."

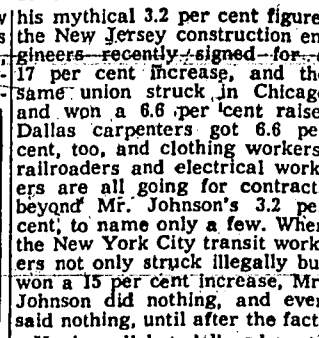

That left the option of a possible tax boost.

Then some Republicans were heard.

Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, ranking Republican on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, said "I'm certainly not going to support any tax increase as long as the administration continues to press for expenditures that can be deferred." He called some of those expenditures "boondoggles," such as funds for a new teacher corps and rent subsidy programs.

And Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said the President was in for a tug-of-war with Republicans and conservative Democrats who will fight to cut spending rather than increase taxes.

Practically nothing has been heard from Johnson since about taxes.

his mythical 3.2 per cent figure, the New Jersey construction engineers recently signed for a 17 per cent increase, and the same union struck in Chicago and won a 6.8 per cent raise. Dallas carpenters got 6.6 per cent, too, and clothing workers, railroaders and electrical workers are Mr. Johnson's 3.2 per cent, to name only a few. When the New York City transit workers not only struck illegally but won a 15 per cent increase, Mr. Johnson did nothing, and even said nothing, until after the fact.

Having all but dolled us to death by deficit spending, Mr. Johnson puts a good face on the prospect of further tax increases as an "anti-inflation" measure.

When the government spenders increase our income tax, what happens to the money? They take it from us and spend it themselves. The money supply and the pressure of purchases hasn't been reduced. We simply have less to spend for ourselves, and the bureaucrats have more.

The only time an income tax is anti-inflationary is when it is used to reduce the government debt or in other ways used to lessen the money supply. Nothing like that is proposed. Instead, Mr. Johnson, constantly talks about more and more government spending, and all this on top of the Viet Nam war.

Actually, under today's conditions, increasing taxes creates more inflation. When taxes go up, take-home pay goes down. Millions need higher wages to live on what they earn, after taxes. This presses wages higher and higher as taxes go up and up.

Both wages and taxes are major items in the cost of production. The consumer pays the costs for both in the prices for everything. Prices mount as wages mount, and the higher taxes kindle the fires under both. Up goes the cost of living. And this is called a fight against inflation!

The one and only way for the United States government to honestly fight inflation is to bring public spending in line with tax receipts — which already are colossal.

Heroic Federal Reserve Board Chairman William McChesney Martin applied some monetary measures over Mr. Johnson's protest. But, to be fully effective, these monetary measures must be accompanied by cutbacks on non-defense spending to reduce the pressure which government overspending pumps into the inflationary balloon.

Deficit financing by the Washington Robin Hoods of the Red Ink — the borrowing to spend more than the income — means debt, inflation and unsound money.

We're the victims of the accumulated bad management of our money and earnings. And today, as the government continues to spend beyond its income and borrows more and more to pay its bills, the dangers multiply. For its borrowings from banks create more and more credit, increase the money supply and help increase inflation.

Mr. Johnson can talk himself deaf, dumb and blind, but this result cannot be stopped until deficit financing (spending beyond income) is stopped. And if it is not stopped, there is no stopping the higher and higher cost of living and the economic rat race about which Mr. Johnson talks so much and, in terms of realities, does so little.

HOW SHERLOCK WOULD PLAY

Holmes opened the jack of hearts against the diamond slam. South finessed dummy's queen and ruffed a spade to get to his hand. He played several rounds of trumps before leading a club. Holmes took his ace and led the king of hearts to knock out the ace. The two heart leads had destroyed South's re-entry to dummy and he had to go down one.

"Marvelous, marvelous!" gasped Watson. The second marvelous showed double awe for the master's genius. "Elementary, my dear Watson," said Holmes. "It was a simple matter for me to deduce that South wasn't bidding six diamonds without some expectation of making it. That meant he would be void of spades. In any event I did not risk much by my heart lead. I felt sure that I could get in with the ace of clubs and would still have time to lead a spade if necessary."

"Doesn't Scotland Yard get any credit for my five-spade bid that pushed them to the slam?" asked Inspector LeStrade who sat East.

"A great deal of credit," replied Holmes. "As a matter of fact, when I passed to five diamonds I had an entirely different defense worked out. My plan was to open the ace of clubs and lead a spade to you whereupon you could lead back a club for me to ruff. Then, your five spades and South's six-diamond bid caused me to believe that South was void of spades and to deduce that a heart lead was the winning defense against six."

Newly Merged Newspaper Has Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—A strike by the Newspaper Guild of New York has shut down the merged World-Journal Tribune before the new corporation could start publication which had been scheduled for today.

A voluntary shutdown by four of the daily newspapers was averted when their publishers decided to keep printing on a day-to-day basis.

Matt Meyer, president of the new corporation, said shortly before midnight that he could not predict when the merged papers would be published. This was in view of the fact that none of the 10 unions in the newspaper industry has a contract with the World-Journal Tribune, Inc.

The AFL-CIO Newspaper Guild set up picket lines Sunday at the plants of the Journal-American, the World-Telegram and Sun and the Herald Tribune—all of which published their last editions as separate entities during the weekend.

The pickets signaled the start of the third major newspaper strike here in less than four years.

Officials of the Guild, which has the support of the other unions, said the strike was called primarily because of a dispute with the publishers over who should be dismissed in the merger and over layoff provisions. The Guild and the other unions are seeking provisions to cushion the effects of the merger on the 2,000 of the 5,700 union employees of the three papers who will lose their jobs. The Guild is to lose 904 of its 1,800 jobs.

The Daily Investor

By WILLIAM A. DOYLE

Q. I read in the paper that a big utility company sold a very large issue of bonds to an "underwriting syndicate" which re-offered the bonds to the public "to yield 3.11 per cent per year, if held to maturity." Can you please explain what the phrase "I have quoted mean? I am confused by the names.

A. The name of the game is "investment banking." It's a very competitive field, in which huge amounts of money are risked. The profits can involve many dollars. But those profits usually are quite small as a percentage of the total amount of money risked by the investment bankers.

The underwriting syndicate is a group of investment bankers—brokerage firms, investment dealers and (under certain circumstances) commercial banks.

The syndicate buys the securities from the company which has put them up for sale. Then the members of the syndicate turn around and offer the securities for sale, at a slightly higher price, to the investing public.

In a reasonably typical case, such as you cite, the syndicate might have bought the bonds from the company at "par"—paying $1,000 for each $1,000 par value of bonds. In its purchase (involving competitive bidding against other syndicates) the group specifies the annual interest the company must pay on the bonds.

Assume that the interest rate was set at 5 1/2% (5.125) per cent. Then assume that the syndicate offers to sell those bonds to the public at a price higher than $1,000 per $1,000 par value.

If you buy one of those $1,000 par value bonds, you will receive interest of $51.25 a year—because the company must pay

Ground Is Broken for New $140,000 Bank at Paul

PAUL — With the aid of a gold-plated shovel tied with a large red bow, ground was broken Friday afternoon for the new $140,000 Paul Idaho Bank and Trust building.

The ceremony was under the direction of Otto Steinbrink, branch manager, assisted by Ray Pierson, Ogden, Utah, firm advertising agent.

George McDonald, manager of KAYT Radio, Rupert, was master of ceremonies and taped the program.

During the welcome address, Steinbrink termed the event "a very happy day for us." A large crowd witnessed the groundbreaking ceremony.

The bank has operated in the Paul Hotel building since it began in 1938. A brief history of the Paul branch was given by Mayor Harold Wilson.

According to Grant Bickmore, Pocatello, company president, the area has grown since 1938 and the bank business as well making it necessary for the company to provide larger and better facilities.

The new construction, to be located next to the Paul Equipment and Welding on Highway 25, will feature a convenient drive-in window and ample parking space. The firm plans to construct a "beautiful community room," for public use.

Remarks were given by special guests including Wilson, Leo Handy, Hays, Chamber of Commerce; Dell Hollinger, Rupert Chamber of Commerce; Alex Roemer, Minidoka County Commissioner; Fred Hilliard and Fred Burton, both Pocatello and directors on the board; Lorin Lewis and Elwood Rich, both Burley, and members of the board of directors; Reed Starley, Burley, company senior vice president, and J.A. Lemhi Solons Defends State Sales Tax SALMON — Lemhi County State Sen. James Ellsworth and Rep. Helen McKinney staunchly defended Idaho's sales tax at a meeting here hosted by the Republican Women of Lemhi, Custer and Butte counties.

Ellsworth said that Idaho faces the loss of between 18 and 19 million dollars immediately if the sales tax is voted out in November, it was reported Monday.

"What can be done to make up this deficit? I have asked many people that question and no one can give me an answer."

Mrs. McKinney said that revenue from the sales tax during the first eight months of its operation totals $18,216,619 and is more than anticipated.

"How anyone can support education on one hand and deny the Legislature the method of financing, I don't know," she said.

Ellsworth said: "I can't feel we are doing right by our children if we deny them the opportunity for a better education. I hope that through the benefits of the sales tax we can keep more of our young people in Idaho."

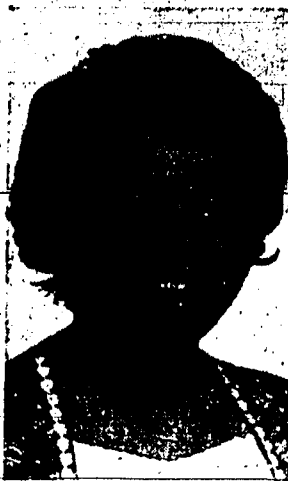

He said that Idaho needs to create a better business climate so that its young people can find jobs in the state.

3 Childrens' Bodies Found In Marsh

GOLDEN MEADOW, La. (AP) — Sheriff's deputies and volunteer searchers stumbled on the semi-nude bodies of three children today partly submerged in mud and water near the spot where their mother's battered body was discovered Sunday.

The three bodies lay 20 feet apart in a triangle in desolate marsh country.

Mrs. Barbara Verrett and her children—a boy and two girls—had been sought since her common-law husband, Bernardo Mejia, returned to their home in Berwick, La., a week ago and found the empty house spattered with blood.

Multiple murder charges have been brought against Mejia's nephew, Roy Mejia, 27, who had been living with the family. Roy Mejia was thought to have fled to Mexico.

Mrs. Verrett's bludgeoned body was found half-buried in a water-filled roadbed by two women. A 35-year-old divorcee, she was clad only in undergarments and a torn blouse. A piece of cheesecloth was tied in her mouth.

Her children were found about 50 feet off the road. Their bodies were hidden in marsh grass and partially submerged in about three inches of water.

St. Mary Parish sheriff's officers said there were indications the two girls—Brenda, 15, and Lucile, 13—were buried in shallow graves.

The body of their brother, Robert, 11, was the first spotted by searchers slogging through mud up to their knees. He lay in water and marsh grass, still wearing a religious cross on a chain around his neck.

FOCATELLO (AP)—A $100,000 budget has been adopted by delegates to the 30th annual Idaho Credit Union League convention.

The three-day meeting closed Saturday. Chosen as site of the 1967 meeting was the Magic Valley area. Coeur d'Alene was selected for 1968.

Indian Will Take Over as Bureau Head

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert LaFollette Bennett is an Indian who firmly believes Indians should be doing more to shape their own destiny.

He says he'll work toward that goal—and the lessening of government supervision that it would bring—after he takes over this week as head of the federal government's Bureau of Indian Affairs.

When he is sworn in Wednesday as Indian commissioner, he will become the first Indian in nearly a century—and only the second in history—to hold that position. He succeeds Philipco Nash, who resigned.

The commissioner-designate, born on the Oneida Indian reservation in Wisconsin, started his government career on the Ute Indian reservation in Utah 33 years ago after graduating from an Indian boarding school in Kansas.

His steady climb up through the bureau was climaxed last month when President Johnson nominated him for the agency's top job.

Of the nation's 550,000 Indians, some 380,000 still live on reservations, many in squalor and abject poverty, and Bennett plans to ask the Indians what can be done to improve their lot.

He disclosed in an interview that he will hold a series of meetings with Indians this summer. The sessions probably will be held, he said, in the Southwest, Northwest and northern Plains—where most reservations are located.

"We need their contributions...I expect them to make more of their own decisions," Bennett said. "Where we feel we need legislation to give the tribes more authority, we will go to Congress and ask for that legislation."

This is all designed to lead to less government supervision of Indians—one of Bennett's aims. "Indian people are becoming better educated...and I think they should be free to use this education and experience as much as possible in shaping their own destiny," he said.

Oral Birth Control Pills Are Defended by Developer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fears that long-term use of the controversial oral birth-control pills put out by several firms might cause cancer or other adverse side-effects appear groundless so far, the original developer of the pills said today.

Indeed, declared Dr. Gregory Pincus of Worcester, Mass., an evaluation of new and past studies of the use of the oral contraceptives — being taken by more than five million women in the United States alone — indicates:

1. Aside from apparently producing no major adverse effects on the reproductive and other endocrine-gland-regulated systems of the female body, the pills have achieved "apparent correction of certain abnormalities" in the womb, cervix (entrance to the womb) and breasts of some women.

2. There's justification to explore the possibility that long-term use of the pills may have the added beneficial effect of helping protect women from developing atherosclerosis — the form of hardening of the arteries under suspicion by many doctors as being a possible contributor to heart attacks.

Dr. Pincus, a cofounder of the Worcester Foundation for Experimental Biology, gave his views in a "progress report" on investigations into long-term use of "The Pill," prepared for the spring meeting of the National Academy of Sciences.

He also said that various studies by other investigators indicate the pills — rather than being a potential cause of cancer — appear to be potentially protective against both cancer of the cervix and breast.

However, Dr. James A. Shannon, director of the National Institutes of Health, is on record as saying that women may be "taking a chance" by using the pills — and that the question of whether there is a long-term hazard, such as cancer, can only be settled by keeping close tabs on "a substantial number of patients over a number of years."

ONE MAN KILLED

State police said Matheson, who was alone in the vehicle, was killed outright.

The accident happened near where the four-lane freeway narrows into an old two-lane section of U. S. Highway 10.

Police first thought Matheson may have suffered a heart attack while driving, but sheriff's officers said Sunday that the death would be included on Idaho's traffic death toll.

Border Guards Shoot Man in Escape Attempt

BERLIN (AP)—East German border guards shot a man early today just as he reached the third and last Communist barbed wire entanglement along the West Berlin border, police reported.

The police said the border guards fired 40 to 50 shots at the man, who was attempting to flee into the southeastern section of West Berlin. He was either seriously wounded or killed and lay where he fell for 40 minutes before an East German army ambulance took him away, police said.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

MONDAY, April 25 — Born today, you are a high-spirited person who responds with equal force to both praise and blame. Although you bloom under encouragement, you are quite apt to wilt and lose all interest in what you are doing when subjected to adverse criticism. Such attitudes are bound to make your life one of ups and downs, both materially and spiritually, for the depression or elation of your mood can only have an ill or a good effect, respectively, on your work.

A great deal of your difficulty in accepting criticism lies in the fact that you are by nature an independent thinker. It seldom occurs to you when beginning a project that your way may not be the best way, and, because you force yourself to learn the hard way that your methods may be wrong, you suffer needlessly. Learn to ask for and to at least consider the advice of those more experienced than you and you will do yourself a great service.

Persons with responses such as yours often try to protect themselves by developing a veneer of toughness to hide behind. If such is the case with you — and it well may be — you would be wise to reconsider what you may be doing to yourself. To repress your natural emotions — even those emotions you may find unwelcome — may bring you unhappiness later in life.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Tuesday, April 26
TAURUS (April 21-May 21) — Concentrate only upon that which you would see become a reality. To interrupt your thinking with trivia could be to forfeit your goal.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Avoid going out of your way today to see others. If you must spend the day alone, do so happily and industriously.

Details of Churchill's Illness Told

LONDON (AP) — Lord Moran said today that he is publishing details of Sir Winston Churchill's illnesses because they are necessary for an understanding of the statesman's last 25 years.

In a letter to the Times of London, Moran, Churchill's physician, answered criticism from the Lancet, a leading British medical journal, that publication of his memoirs violated the convention that what passes between patient and doctor is secret.

"In Sir Winston's case," his doctor wrote, "this convention must be balanced against other considerations regarding his reputation: that it is not possible to follow the last 25 years of Sir Winston's life without a knowledge of his medical background."

"It was exhaustion of mind and body that accounted for much that is otherwise inexplicable in the last year of the war, for instance the deterioration in his relations with President Roosevelt."

"It is certain that the onset of old age and a succession of strokes explain in part why he was not more effective as a leader of the opposition (during the 1945-51 Labor government) and later as first minister of the crown."

"While Churchill counted politically these details are part of history, and in justice to him ought not to be left out of his story."

Dominicans Celebrate Revolution

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Lots of noise but no violence opened a week of celebrations Sunday of the anniversary of the Dominican revolution last April.

An estimated 10,000 demonstrators, most of them youths, massed at Independence Park, repeatedly shouted, "Go home, Yankees," and cheered loudly at the end of the three-hour rally when a big U.S. flag was burned.

Police armed with carbines and tear gas bombs kept a careful watch. The army was on the alert. The Inter-American Peace Force, consisting mostly of U.S. troops, stayed in the background.

In evidence at the rally, organized by leftist groups, were the green and black banner of the pro-Castro 14th of June Movement and the red and black flags of the country's two Communist parties.

The newspaper El Caribe praised the demonstrators for being peaceful but expressed concern over "Communist infiltration into Dominican life."

Odd Sounds Come From Man's Head

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Sometimes the noises inside Dorian Figueroa's head sound like frogs' down on the pond, sometimes like a siren, sometimes like the wind being forced through a crack in a car window.

"To me," says the man on whom surgeons have operated three times to try to still the noises, "it is the sound of a dying puppy dog."

Figueroa, 38, fell 20 feet from a ladder May 28, 1964, and fractured his skull and four vertebrae, broke his right collar bone and lost hearing in his right ear.

Then the noises started. His wife, Margie, didn't believe him when he told her.

"We had cross words one day," she said, "and I put my arms around him to make up and I heard for myself. I said, 'My God, forgive me.'"

His wife said the noises vary in volume, pace, and intensity.

"But the loudest is always at night," she said. "It sounds like a siren."

A brain surgeon said the noises may originate from an abnormal blood vessel connection. The surgeon said this could possibly be within the skull, possibly from the shoulder injury.

"There is an answer to this," the surgeon said. "We intend to find it. The condition is quite unusual," he said, "but not unheard of."

Figueroa, who is going back to the hospital for more tests, said he has headaches and not much sense of balance.

Lakers Nip Celts 121-117 to Keep Title Hope Alive

BOSTON (AP)—Elgin Baylor and Jerry West combined for 72 points in leading Los Angeles to a 121-117 victory over the Boston Celtics Sunday as the Lakers kept alive their hopes for the National Basketball Association's championship. Baylor scored 41 points and West 31 as the Lakers, on the brink of elimination, closed to within 3-2 and forced a sixth game in the best-of-seven series at Los Angeles Tuesday night.

Cubs Strike Early, Blank Dodgers 2-0

CHICAGO (AP) — Don Kessinger's fluke triple chased home two runs in the second inning and the Chicago Cubs made them stand up Sunday for a 2-0 victory over Don Drysdale and the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Rookie Ken Holtzman, a student at the University of Illinois at Chicago and a part-time pitcher, blanked the world champions on three hits in the first six innings and then received help from relief ace Ted Abernathy.

John Herrstein, making his first appearance as a Cub since being acquired from Philadelphia last Thursday, led off the second inning with a single. With one out, Randy Hundley doubled to left.

Kessinger then hit a soft liner to right field and Al Ferrara missed in his try for a diving catch. Ferrara couldn't locate the ball, and center fielder Lou Johnson had to come over to retrieve it.

Holtzman, who picked up his first major league victory, is available for the Cubs' home games and for weekend games when they are on the road. He goes to school during the week.

Cash Powers Tigers Over Solons Twice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Norm Cash's triple and home run powered the Detroit Tigers to a 4-1 second game victory over Washington and a sweep of their doubleheader Sunday.

Bill Monbouquette scattered seven hits as Detroit won the opener 4-0 despite a record tying strikeout performance by the Senators' Pete Richert.

Richert struck out seven consecutive Tigers, equaling the mark shared by Ryne Duren, then with the Los Angeles Angels, and Denny McLain of Detroit.

In the nightcap, Cash tripled across a run and scored another in the Tigers' three-run third inning, then hit a homer in the eighth.

Richert struck out 12 Tigers in the first six innings of the opener but departed in the seventh after Don Demeter doubled and scored on Ken McMullen's error.

Sadecki Hits, Hurls Cards Past Tigers

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Pitcher Ray Sadecki slammed two hits, including a two-run homer in the second inning that brought St. Louis from behind and propelled the Cardinals to a 5-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Sunday.

Sadecki, making his first start of the season, checked the Pirates on five hits before needing relief help from Tracy Stallard in the eighth inning.

Sadecki's homer, off Don Cardwell, followed a two-out double by Dal Maxvill and pushed St. Louis into a 3-2 lead. Sadecki's second hit, a single to center, a wild pitch and Lou Brock's double to left center gave the Cards a fifth run in the seventh inning.

Lotz, Henning Take Over Lead In Rain-Shortened Dallas Open

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—John Lotz and Harold Henning, a couple of comparative unknowns on the golf tour, finished in a tie for the lead in the $85,000 Dallas Open Golf Tournament Sunday with 205 for 54 holes. Lotz, the chunky young man from Hayward, Calif., who admitted he was "nervous when I play with these bigshots," shot an eight-under-par 63, and Henning, the South African PGA champion who once beat Gary Player, posted a 65 to move to the top of the list. They overtook and passed Doug Sanders, the leader at the halfway mark with 137. Sanders managed only a 70 Sunday over the 6,923-yard rainswept course.

Two rounds originally were scheduled to be played Sunday, but the rain continued and it was decided to cut it to 18 holes and end the tournament Monday.

Henning, 31, has played on the American tour for 10 years but only a few tournaments at a time. He never has won one but has done well in other countries.

Lotz shot his fine round on his 25th birthday. His 63 was one stroke over the record shot by Tommy Bolt when the Oak Cliff Country Club course was a par 70.

Tied at 207 with Sanders were Ken Still, who had a 67, and Gay Brewer, who shot a 69.

A stroke back were Miller Barber, Joe Campbell and Rocky Thompson.

Sanders had an up-and-down round with a double bogey on 10 hurting him the most. He started with birdies on 2 and 3 seemed on the way to a fine round but bogeyed 6, birdied 8 and finished with one-under-par 34 on the first nine.

Came the double bogey on 10, and Sanders was fighting from behind the rest of the way. He managed a birdie on 12 and an other on 14, then bogeyed 16, but he birdied 18 to finish with his one under par.

Carol Mann Wins Peace Blossom Golf Tourney
SPARTANBURG, S.C. (AP)—Carol Mann won the $8,500 Betsy Rawls Peace Blossom Women's Golf Tournament by one stroke Sunday when Marlene Hagge missed a 25-foot birdie putt on the final green.

It was the second straight tour victory for the Towson, Md., blonde who won last week's Raleigh, N.C., Open.

Miss Mann shot a one-under-par 71 for a 54-hole total of 216. Miss Hagge, who had a two-stroke lead going into the final round, struggled to a 75 for 217 over the 5,900-yard Spartanburg Country Club course.

Tourney namesake Betsy Rawls had Sunday's best round, 70, but finished in a tie with Judy Kimball at 218. Miss Kimball shot 73.

Detroit Mayor Presses Bid For Olympics

ROME (AP) — Jerome Cavanagh, the mayor of Detroit, arrived in Rome Sunday to present the Michigan City's bid for the 1972 Summer Olympics and said "there will be no problem for anybody traveling to Detroit for the Olympic Games."

He was replying to questions about entry to the United States of athletes and officials from countries not recognized by the U.S. government.

"Nicholas Katzenbach, the U.S. attorney general, has assured us that any country recognized by the International Olympic Committee will also be recognized by us," said Cavanagh.

He pointed out, however, that travel inside the United States might be restricted, but did not mention any specific delegates who might be affected.

This is Detroit's eighth attempt to win the Summer Olympics.

California Dog Wins Trophy in Area Field Trial

Moesgaard's Angel, a former national field trial champion, gained temporary ownership of the Dr. Max Wilkinson Memorial traveling trophy Sunday by scoring the most points during the American Kennel Club Field Trials, conducted by the Magic Valley German Shorthair Pointer Club.

Twins Down Angels 5-3, Snap Streak

ANAHEIM, California (AP)—Don Mincher drove in three runs with a single and homer Sunday as the Minnesota Twins snapped a five-game losing streak with a 5-3 victory over the California Angels.

Reliever Al Worthington nailed down the Twins' first victory in five meetings with the Angels this season after a two-run homer by Rick Reichardt helped driver starter Camilo Pascual from the mound in the seventh inning.

The Twins slugged 11 hits, including a bases-empty homer by Bob Allison and a run scoring single by Andy Kosco. Minnesota piled up a 4-0 lead in the first four innings, driving starter Dean Chance to the showers. Mays Ties

Homer Mark, Giants Win

HOUSTON (AP)—Willie Mays tied Mel Ott's National League record for career home runs Sunday when he hit No. 511 in the eighth inning and triggered the San Francisco Giants to a 4-2 victory over Houston.

Mays came up with one out and the Giants trailing 2-1 in the eighth and slammed a 2-0 pitch from Jim Owens into the left center field stands. One out later, Jim Hart broke the tie by hammering a homer into the left field seats.

Mays' record-tying shot, on a fastball fired by the right-handed Owens, sailed into the seats about 420 feet from the plate. It was Mays' second homer in two days in the Astrodome, and his sixth of the season.

Ott amassed his 511 homers in 22 seasons with the Giants, then based in New York, from 1926 through 1947. The 34-year-old Mays has matched that in the 15 seasons he has been with the Giants.

Mets Turn Error Into 4-3 Victory

ATLANTA (AP)—The New York Mets made the most of a throwing error by veteran third baseman Eddie Mathews, pushed across two seventh-inning runs and snapped their five-game losing streak by edging Atlanta 4-3 in the second game of a doubleheader Sunday.

The Braves extended their winning streak to six games in the opener with a 5-2 victory before a crowd of 40,477.

The Mets' nightcap victory—their first against the Braves on the road in 19 games—came despite two solo homers by Felipe Alou, who connected in the third and eighth innings while extending his hitting streak to 12 games.

The Mets hold a precarious 2-1 lead going into the seventh. Walker Tug McGraw drew a walk. One out later, Roy McMillan beat out a hit to the right of the mound and Mathews, racing in to make the play, threw wildly past first.

McGraw raced all the way home on the play, and McMillan reached third. He scored when Ken Boyer hit a sacrifice fly for a 4-1 lead.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem."

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dynex)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

Six Karate Students Get Higher Ranks

Six of seven students seeking a higher rank were promoted Sunday during a promotional review at the Idaho Academy of Karate No. 1 at 1240 Addison Ave. E.

The students were judged on their abilities in the martial art of karate by Melvin Turner, Robert Tidd and Pierce Roan Jr., all of Twin Falls. Turner is the third United States Karate Association's state representative and Tidd is chief instructor at the Twin Falls academy.

Earning green belts Sunday were Victor Rodriguez, Burley, and Terry Burton of Rupert. Blue belts went to Robert Bopp, Twin Falls, and Larry Bopp, Rupert. Raoul Gierisch of Burley and Rudy Rodriguez of Burley jumped from white to yellow belts.

Some of the requirements needed for a first rank yellow belt, lowest of the three colors awarded Sunday, are: Know a minimum of 37 punches, chops, kick defenses and counters; five Kata techniques for four to 10 opponents; break brick; mental, moral and physical control and throw at least six blows per second.

The student must increase his defense and counters in number and power and in speed and form, with which all techniques must be executed, to advance in rank.

Red Wings Take 1-0 Series Lead

MONTREAL (AP)—Paul Henderson's goal early in the final period and brilliant netminding by Roger Crozier carried the Detroit Red Wings to a 3-2 victory over the Montreal Canadiens in the first game of the National Hockey League Stanley Cup final series Sunday.

Henderson's goal, at 2:14 gave Detroit a 3-1 lead. Montreal's Terry Harper got his team back into the game 22 seconds later.

Morale Boost

ROME (AP)—The Salt Lake City delegation trying to win the 1972 Winter Olympic Games at a crucial meeting of the International Olympic Committee (IOC) received a tremendous morale boost Sunday—26,000 signatures of support for the bid flown from the Utah city.

The signatures, written in a five-pound leather-bound book, were brought here by Dale Peak, chairman of the Utah Committee for International Contracts.

"We gathered these signatures in 24 hours to tell our boys here we are all behind their efforts to bring the Olympics for the first time in history to Utah," Peak said.

Tiger Scoffs at Idea His Age Will Catch up in Title Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—Will old age catch up with middleweight champion Dick Tiger in his title defense against welterweight king Emile Griffith Monday night?

The 36-year-old Nigerian scoffs at the idea but the bookmakers have dropped the odds favoring Tiger from 2-1 to 8-5. It could be lower by the time they climb into the Madison Square Garden ring for their 15-rounder.

"I feel as good now as I have felt in the last five years," said Tiger, who will be 37 on Aug. 14. "I think I am a better fighter than I was five years ago."

"Emile just turned 28 according to the book but he's only 27," said Gil Glancy, Griffith's co-manager and trainer. "Tiger may be closer to 40. Now I know Tiger is always in shape but I think he's going to show his years. Emile is going to make him fight every second."

Unlike Sonny Liston, who fell apart against Cassius Clay from ring rust, among other things, Tiger has been active in the last year.

The broad-shouldered, hard-hitting middleweight champion has won his last four fights. He stopped Rocky Rivera in six, outpointed contender Rubin Carter in 10 and regained the crown from Joey Giardello on a decisive 15-round decision last Oct. 21.

In his last start, he stopped Germany's Peter Mueller in three. That was two months ago in Dortmund, Germany.

Although he's been fighting pro 14 years, Tiger is far from shopworn. He has had only 71 fights, with a 54-14-3 won-lost-draw record that includes 25 knockout victories. He never has been stopped or floored. He has a tough skin and bears no scars of ring combat.

Griffith has speed, youth and a burning ambition, going for him. He tends to be over-anxious, and that could prove fatal against a heavier opponent. His only knockout defeat was in the first round to Carter at Pittsburgh, Dec. 20, 1963. He also lost a decision to Don Fullmer, but has whipped nine other middleweights.

A pro nearly eight years, Griffith has a 49-7 record, including 18 knockouts.
